Two By Russians, Four By Japs, According to the Report—Czarewitch Repaired—War News.

New Chwang, June 13.—(Bulletin)—It is reported that the Russians have suffered a severe defeat as the result of an ambush at Pulanien (probably Publentien) to the rear of Port Arthur. The Japanese attacked the Russians and then drew the latter on by a feigned retreat. The Russians were trapped and are said to have lost 300 men killed and wounded. The Czar's troops have fallen back on Kai Chow.

GREAT NAVAL BATTLE.

ATTACK ON LIAO YANG.

Rome, June 13.—A dispatch from Seoul states that 20,000 men have been sent to reinforce General Kuroki, who, though still at Feng Huang Cheng, has pushed advance guards among the hills. These advance forces have gone as far as Motien Ling Pass where on Saturday, they encountered a force of Russians, who withdrew leaving an officer and six soldiers dead. The Japanese lost an officer and three men. Kuroki's plan, says the dispatch, seems to be to deliver an attack on Liao Yang simultaneously from the east and south.

CZAREWITCH REPAIRED.

Tien Tsin, June 13.—The Russian battleship Czarewitch, which was damaged by a Japanese torpedo at the beginning of the war, has been repaired at Port Arthur, and is now ready for action. The sea outside the port is thickly strewn with Russian and Japanese mines, a constant menace to navigation. According to word received here, there is no truth to a report current some days ago that the Russian submarine Giliak had been destroyed.

A LONG FORCED-MARCH.

The troops were exhausted after a long forced-march. An officer said they were retreating from Tsai Chow. The Russians have abandoned their position eight miles south of New Chwang.

Thirty Firemen Overcome by Tobacco and Alcoholic Fumes

New York, June 13.—Thirty firemen were temporarily overcome by tobacco smoke and the fumes from alcohol Sunday, while fighting a fire in Holt's cafe in Broadway. The fire was confined to the sub-cellar in which liquors and cigars were stored and the fumes and the dense smoke from the burning cigars hindered the firemen to such an extent that they were compelled to work in two-minute relays. During the fire an ambulance surgeon was stationed nearby to care for the firemen whose eyes caused them intense pain after each rush into the smoke. The damage to the restaurant

Boston, June 13.—Hetty Green paid Boston one of her periodical visits last week. A greater part of the time she was down on the South shore, where she intends it is said, to pass the summer.

But she was in town Saturday and, as is her custom, she lunched at the newboys' restaurant in "Tie alley." After she had gone and when the small crowd which had gathered about to see the richest woman in the world had dispersed, the proprietor confided to an inquiring reporter that Hetty's menu had cost her just eight cents. Puttered toast, three cents; tea, two cents; apple pie, three cents—total eight cents, comprising her bill of fare.

KING PETER'S CROWN.

Its Association With Regicide Makes It a Heavy One.

King Peter of Serbia, whose coronation is expected to take place on June 15, the anniversary of his election to the throne by the Serbian parliament, is a monarch who exemplifies the saying, "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown." It is now about a year since the tragedy occurred through which King Peter came to the throne, but the remembrance of the horrible murder of King Alexander and Queen Draga is still fresh, and there are those who yet think that King Peter himself was in complicity with the regicides. Although the king has reigned as a constitutional monarch should and has been democratic in his relations with the people, the shadow of the tragedy is still over him. Personally the king is a man of unimpressive appearance, not more than five feet two inches in height.

MINERS

From Cripple Creek at Denver

SITUATION IN DISTRICT IS PRACTICALLY NORMAL

No Further Trouble Expected by the Authorities.

TROOPS WITHDRAWN THIS WEEK

Nearly All the Mines Closed After the Explosion Last Monday Have Resumed Work.

Denver, Colo., June 13.—The Cripple Creek union miners, deported to the Kansas line by order of Adjutant General Bell, are beginning to arrive here. About fifteen already have reached this city. A large portion of the deported miners have arrived at Granada, 26 miles from Holly. They are on their way back to the mountains. The town hall has been tendered the men, and a number have availed themselves of the opportunity. As most of the men were searched by the militia and their money and other belongings taken away, they are nearly all without funds.

TROUBLE IS OVER.

Cripple Creek, Colo., June 13.—The situation in the Cripple Creek district, this morning, is practically normal. The authorities, both civil and military, expect no further trouble. Another batch of unionists will be deported tomorrow, and this will wind up the military's campaign of driving the men from this district. The troops will probably be withdrawn from the district this week. Nearly all of the mines, which closed last Monday after the Independence explosion, resumed operations this morning. Portland, the pride of Cripple Creek and numerous leases, which were manned by union men, will not be allowed to resume as long as the soldiers are here. When they do resume, it will be found that all union miners have been forced to leave camp.

THE BOB WHITE

His Usefulness To the American Farmer as Explained By the Department of Agriculture.

Washington, June 13.—Expert entomologists connected with the Agricultural department have been making extensive investigation of means to exterminate the various pests that destroy crops. The department has found out by investigation that Bob White, or quail, is a most industrious exterminator of the boll-weevil and other farm pests in the South. Field observations, experiments and examinations show that it consumes large quantities of weed seeds and destroys many of the worst insect pests with which farmers contend, and yet it does not injure grain, fruit or any other crop. It is figured that from September 1 to April 30, annually, in Virginia alone the total consumption of weed seed by Bob Whites amounts to 573 tons. Some of the pests which it habitually destroys, are the Mexican cotton boll weevil which damages the cotton crop upward of $15,000,000 a year, the potato beetle, which cuts off $10,000,000 from the value of the potato crop, the cotton worms, which have been known to cause $30,000,000 in loss in a year, the chinch bug and the Rocky Mountain locust, scourges which have caused losses to the extent of $100,000,000 in some years. Measures to secure the preservation of the Bob Whites are recommended by the Department. So, hereafter, look for no more quail on toast, but like New Yorkers be content with English sparrows for a gastronomic substitute.

ELECTROCUTION

OF TWO MEN AT THE SING SING MONDAY MORNING.

Trial of Murderer Borgstrom Was Shortest on Record in the State of New York.

Sing Sing, N. Y., June 13.—Albert Koepping and Oscar Borgstrom were successfully electrocuted here this morning. Koepping at 5:55 and Borgstrom at 6:07 o'clock.

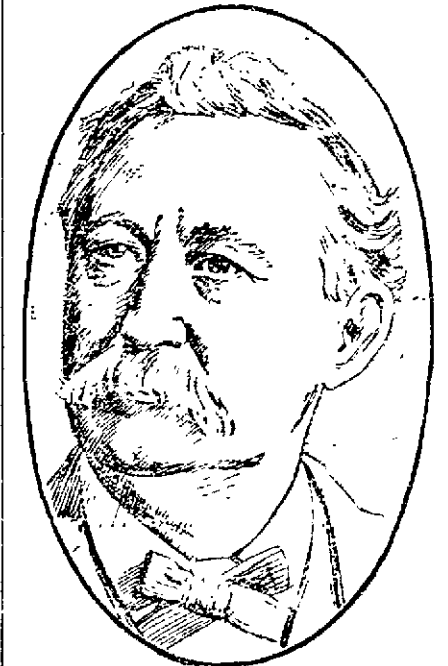

Oscar Borgstrom's trial was one of the shortest, if not the shortest murder trial on record in the State of New York, he having been tried, convicted and sentenced in less than five hours. He was electrocuted for the murder of his wife, Emily P. Borgstrom, at their home in Mount Wisco, on the evening of Easter Monday last year.

Koepping killed John Martin, with whom he boarded, after a quarrel over domestic troubles. Koepping to the last declared that the killing was in self-defense.

MURDER

Is Charge Against Nan Patterson

INDICTMENT RETURNED BY THE GRAND JURY

Which Investigated the Death of "Caesar" Young.

CORONER'S INQUEST ON MONDAY Was Attended By the Widow of the Deceased Bookmaker in New York City.

New York, June 13.—(Bulletin)—The grand jury at 11:30 this morning, found an indictment for murder in the first degree against Nan Patterson who was present at the time of the shooting of "Caesar" Young, the bookmaker, in a saloon on West Broadway a week ago Saturday. The jury made the presentment to Judge Newburger in the court of general sessions.

The coroner's inquest into the death of Young was held this morning in the office of Coroner Brown. After hearing the testimony of Dr. Edwin N. Higgins of Hudson Street Hospital, who attended Young, and Dr. Phillip O'Hanlon, coroner's physician, the jury brought in a verdict simply stating that Young had died as the result of a pistol wound.

Miss Patterson, who was in the coroner's court when the inquest began, was removed when the coroner was notified of the finding of an indictment against her.

Mrs. Young, widow of the deceased bookmaker, was present at the inquest.

Well Organized Plot Exists In Morocco to Depose Sultan

London, June 13.—The Tangier correspondent of the Times, says:

"A well-organized and widely-spread plot to depose the sultan exists throughout Morocco. It has no connection with the late rebellion, but originated with the religious and educated classes and is supported by many sheikhs and other influential persons, including members of the Moorish government.

"The sultan is cognizant of the proposed revolution and may be obliged to leave Fez because he has not the forces to withstand such a universal rising.

"The revolution was arranged before the terms of the Anglo-French agreement were known, but that adds fuel to the fire, as the sultan is now accused of selling the country to France.

"The conspirators have no fixed plans beyond deposing the sultan and the government, which they believe would postpone the dangers now threatening Morocco."

"CORN GOSPEL TRAIN"

Professor Holden's Plan of Work Among Iowa Farmers.

SIMPLE LESSON IN GOOD FARMING

Railroads of the State Provided Special Trains—Lectures Delivered and Practical Demonstrations Made From Rear End Platforms—Greatest Benefit Derived From Object Lessons as to Good and Bad Seeds.

The following is taken from an article entitled "A Corn Gospel Train," by F. G. Moorehead, in the World's Work for June:

Corn is our greatest crop. Iowa produces more corn than any other state or country in the world, but its yield did not satisfy Mr. P. G. Holden, professor of agronomy at the Iowa State Agricultural college. In 1902 the average yield for each acre was thirty-four bushels. In 1903 the average yield was thirty-one bushels. Professor Holden said, "Why, with good weather, should the high yield not only be maintained, but increased?" An increase of only one bushel an acre, using last year's crop as basis, would mean an increase for 1904 of 7,398,200 bushels, worth $2,660,395.20 at market price last December.

Professor Holden began to experiment with corn from Iowa and other corn producing states. After a year of planting and growing he found that with proper seed corn and right planting the yield increased. These scientific tests, made at the state experimental station, showed that the increase would range from five to ten bushels per acre for the fertile fields and from two to five bushels per acre for the less favored soil. The secret of the desired increase, therefore, was in the education of the corn growers. Convinced of this fact, he continued his experiments and his comparisons. In 1903 Green and Winnebago counties had the poorest average of productivity to the acre—twenty bushels—yet the year before Green county had produced thirty-one bushels to the acre and Winnebago thirty bushels. It was a small change.

Iowa produces more than one-seventh of all the corn grown in the United States. Professor Holden believed that Iowa could produce millions more bushels of corn than any other state without exhausting the soil. He showed the Iowa State Agricultural college students how to select the proper seed corn and how to plant it, but the students were only a small proportion of the vast number of corn growers in the state. If his scientific experiments were to be of value they must be generally known.

Professor Holden established corn judging contests at the state fair annually held in Des Moines. Scholarships in the State Agricultural college were offered as prizes to the farm lads, within certain ages, who brought from their homes the best ears of corn and gave their reasons for the selection, together with information as to selecting and planting seed corn. The contests quickly grew in favor, but the work did not reach the great body of farmers throughout the state.

Professor Holden then explained his crop increase plan to the leading freight carrying roads traversing the state. At first they doubted, then became interested and finally entered into the proposition enthusiastically. The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway was the first to offer a special train and to guarantee the expenses of the trip. The offer was accepted by Professor Holden.

The "corn gospel train," as it was called, started in central Iowa, and it was run on time table schedule. Two weeks before the train started the list of all starting places and the schedule time of arrival there were announced on handbills and by notices sent by the rural free delivery of mail to every farmer in territory contiguous to the Rock Island route. Half hour stops were made for every town. Professor Holden was accompanied by Professor Sage and his assistants, railway officials and newspaper representatives.

Attached to the special train was a large audience car, and in this Professor Holden lectured to the farmers who met him at every station. When the crowd was too large for the car, overflow meetings were held on the station platforms. Frequently the assistants would be called upon to repeat the message to those on the outskirts of the crowd who could not hear Professor Holden. The average attendance at the stations was 100. When a twenty minute address was completed, Professor Holden conducted a short question parliament, specimens of good and bad seed corn were exhibited, and, with a last farewell and a cheer from the farmers, the train departed for the next station.

At the end of the third day of the trip 450 miles had been traveled, fifty stations visited, sixty lectures delivered, aggregating eighteen hours of talking, fifteen Iowa counties had been crossed and the message of proper planting carried to the tillers of 3,000,000 acres of Iowa farm land, of which fully one-third is devoted to corn growing.

When the Rock Island tour was completed, another was immediately begun on the Des Moines, Iowa Falls and Northern railway. The third trip was made on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad. Nearly one-half of the ninety-nine counties, embracing 150 farming communities in the state were visited, and 15,000 growers—more than one-half of the corn growers of the state—were personally interested. At the conclusion of his first trip Professor Holden said that he believed the yield this year will be increased from five to ten bushels per acre in the districts traversed by him. When the last trip was completed, he estimated that the average state increase would be three bushels to the acre, which would bring the 1904 average yield up to the 1902 average and increase the 1903 aggregate value of the corn crop, at the last year's figures, by nearly $5,000,000.

The greatest practical benefit of the tour resulted from the object lessons as to the good and the bad seed corn, which taught the farmer to judge his seed carefully, to know what to use and what to throw away. It was a simple lesson in good farming.

Next fall Professor Holden intends to travel over the entire state. Such a tour will not only help the farmer to test his corn, but to select it in the fall for spring planting, thus following the great Iowa crop from the very first steps to the last.

MUSIC AS A BAIT.

Mrs. Holbrook Tells How It Lures Mosquitoes and Mice to Doom.

Music bath power to charm the hateful mosquito and lure him to electrocution, according to Mrs. Amelia Weed Holbrook, who read a paper on the curative properties of music before the Professional Woman's league in New York the other day, says the New York Herald.

"It has been discovered that the hearing apparatus of this little nuisance," said Mrs. Holbrook, "is attuned to catch sounds, and these can be made to vibrate to the pitch of certain musical notes. When these are sounded the entire nervous system of the insect is affected, and when raised to a great number of vibrations a second, yet in harmony with the lower note, the mosquito becomes paralyzed.

"When the note is sounded the mosquito will plunge toward the music, and if the windows are opened from the outside the insects will fill the room and will precipitate themselves against the apparatus. The method provides for the setting up of a musical instrument that will vibrate at the proper pitch to attract the mosquitoes and to surround it with a wire screen charged with electricity, so that as the mosquitoes plunge against the screen they will be electrocuted."

Not only mosquitoes but mice are to be caught through their musical tastes. Mrs. Holbrook described a trap that, instead of being baited with cheese, has hidden in a double bottom a small musical box which plays automatically all the popular airs. The mouse, charmed by these sounds, ventures nearer and nearer and at last pops into the trap seeking a reserved seat. The music goes on, but there is no exit for the mouse. He is condemned to listen to the music until he is taken from the trap to meet his doom.

The painful and discordant howling of children may be turned to music if mothers adopt the plan recommended by a mothers' club. This was to have a tuning fork ready and to give the child the proper note when it began to cry. "If your baby must cry, let it cry artistically," say the mothers.

KOREA'S NATIONAL SPORT.

Stone Throwing, at Which the Natives Are Expert.

Nearly every people on earth has a distinctive means of amusing itself—some game more or less hazardous, but requiring skill in the player. The English are devoted to cricket, the Americans to baseball. The natives of Korea prefer to indulge in stone throwing, at which they are phenomenally expert, says the Chicago Chronicle. Travelers soon learn of the art acquired by stone fighters, though there is but one day of the year given over to it. If any one offends a Korean he answers with a stone. During the Chino-Japanese war the latter found their greatest difficulty in dodging missiles from roof tops and trees. All classes indulge the habit. It is said of a Korean woman that she never fails to throw a stone straight. Within bounds she is as expert as a man. The childhood pleasure of skipping stones along the surface of streams is as well known to the Korean as to the Yankee.

On stone throwing day, however, she is restricted to curfew time for her pleasure as upon other days. In the Land of the Morning Calm women are allowed on the streets only during curfew time, between twilight and early forenoon. During the day they are in seclusion.

In anticipation of the stone throwing fete the natives save all shapes and kinds of rocks. Even the smallest child has his stone pile and takes pride in it. They practice diligently, aiming at different targets. Often a bump man like a scarecrow is rigged up, and the entire family use him for a fake enemy to be demolished by stones. Other targets are mandarin ducks, good luck geese and foreign soldiers made of cotton and wool paper.

In preparing for the fete towns and villages put aside a goodly sum of money for the wounded and to buy prizes for the champions.

Do We Eat Too Much?

Physiologists say that the Japanese present the most perfect physique of any race in the world, writes Robert Webster Jones in the June Housekeeper. Most of the diseases common to the accident are unknown among the subjects of the mikado, and this happy condition they themselves attribute to the fact that they eat sparingly and only of plain, nourishing food. A Japanese visiting in this country is appalled at the quantity of food consumed by his host in one day. Especially is he impressed with the extravagance of our poorer people. In Japan meat once a day is a luxury even among the well to do.

HUMOR OF THE HOUR

Fish For Supper.

"We had a fish supper down to our house the other evening," said Snaggsby, filling another pipe. He meant his boarding house.

"The landlady in a burst of generosity, for which I am still at a loss to account," he continued, "had announced that each boarder could give notice of the particular kind of fish that he wanted. The result was interesting. Polly, the typewriter, wanted a perch. The negro waiter asked the cook for a black bass. A traveling preacher who happened to be there wanted a sole. An old maid who is fond of kittens wanted a catfish and Diggerby who likes dogs, wanted a dogfish, of course. Isaac, the pawnbroker, wanted a shark, and Jenkins, the street fakir, asked for a sucker. Mr. and Mrs. Smyth wanted a sunfish. Dick, who is a member of the boat club, wanted some roe.

"The landlady's husband, who is an old soldier, said if he couldn't get a gar he would be satisfied with a plaice. Dottie Dimpleton, the soubrette, was anxious for a lobster. Billy, the landlady's youngest, said that he would wait till he went to bed, and when he said his prayers he would take an eel. He said that just for a cod."—New York Tribune.

"What's the matter with you?" demanded the justice.

"Why, judge," replied the prisoner. "I just got to be hitting something all the time. I'm built that way."

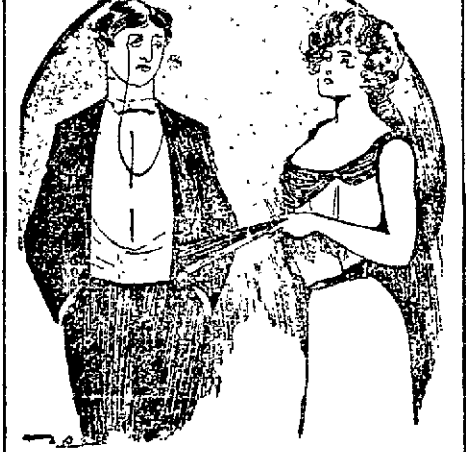

"Have you got a punching bag in the squad room?" asked the justice.

"Sure!" replied the policeman.

"His sentence," said the justice, "is thirty days. Turn him loose at the punching bag with his bare knuckles. For every minute that he keeps steadily at it take a day off the sentence, and for every minute or fraction of a minute that he rests add a day. When he has worked out his sentence let him go."

Several hours later a weary man with bruised knuckles was carried away in a cab. He no longer had to be hitting something all the time—in fact, the joy of not having to be hitting something was sublime.—Chicago Post.

A young man said to me the other day, "Mr. Sage, would you not have taken a vacation if you had worked for some one else?"

I replied that I would not. I have never been an advocate of what some term the "vacation habit." When I was a boy the practice was not in vogue. As a matter of fact, I was so glad to get a chance to learn business that the idea of asking my employer to make me a present of two weeks of the time that belonged to him because he had paid for it would have been preposterous. Besides, I was eager to advance in business and could not see how I could do this by wasting valuable time.

Neither did any of my youthful associates take vacations, and I am sure you will agree with me that the fact did not retard their progress when I say that among them were Thurlow Weed, the king maker, Horace Greeley, Governor Seward and George Jones, the founder of the New York Times. These men were constantly at work, and they were history makers.

I think the "vacation habit" is the outgrowth of abnormal or distorted business methods. I fail to see anything legitimate in it.

Let us assume that an employer and his clerk make an agreement to exchange just remuneration for reasonable services, and each one keeps his part of the agreement. Are they not then quits? If there is any obligation, I think it is on the part of the clerk, who avails of the credit, skill and organization of the employer to learn a business and advance himself along a path which has already been prepared for him. What right has he, then, to demand or expect pay for two weeks' time for which he renders no equivalent, not considering the serious inconvenience to which he often puts his employer?

Suppose we were to reverse the conventional order of things and instead of the clerk demanding two weeks' pay gratis the employer should demand two weeks' work without pay as a condition of retaining the clerk in his employ. What a tremendous howl would go up!

It may be urged that the clerk by his vacation gains in health and vigor and is thus enabled to render better service to his employer. If this claim were true, he would be justified in asking for a vacation. In fact, he would not have to do so, as his employer would for his own gain and of his own accord send him away thus to recuperate.

But is it not absurd to suppose that a man who can work for eleven and a half months cannot as well work the whole year? Is it not equally absurd to suppose that a man can in two weeks recuperate from the wear and tear of a year's work, if there be such wear and tear? On the contrary, I have too often observed that men will while on their vacations make fortunes upon their vitality and purses that cannot be repaired in the following eleven months and two weeks.

Then, again, the loss of time, the disorganization of business, that result from the absence of a valuable man from his desk are difficult to repair. A man sometimes must spend weeks catching up with work that has accumulated while he was away for a fortnight.

If a man will only take an interest in his work, love it, he will not need anything else to recuperate him, and men who learn to love their work invariably succeed.

A man should work "easy," be economical of his time, conserve his forces and not worry. It's worry and not work that makes the hair gray.

The doctors may recommend a change of air for a man when he's sick, but why be sick? Sickness is an irreparable loss of time. If I had a thousand tongues I'd preach "Save time" with them all. It's infinitely more valuable than money.

We read of Gladstone, who got all the recuperation he needed by simply changing his work. He didn't quit work and go idling about. Time was the most precious thing in the world for him, and by availing of every minute of it he practically did the work of an army of men.

Roman Alphabet in Japan's Schools.

An important step in the progress of Japan is apparently about to be taken in the compulsory teaching of the Roman alphabet as well as a Romanized Japanese alphabet in the government primary schools, says the Washington Times. This work has been done to some extent already in the universities, but if this proposal of the education department be adopted the Romanization of the Japanese language is not far distant, for the next generation of Japanese of all classes will be familiar with the Latin alphabet. It is difficult to realize all that this will mean to the nation. It will simplify political and commercial relations and will render western thought and literature accessible to the bulk of the people.

WASHINGTON LETTER

[Special Correspondence.]

The board of education of the District of Columbia has decided on a departure in the treatment of the grounds around the public school buildings of the District and has enlisted the aid of Building Inspector Ashford to carry out his ideas. Wherever the extent of the grounds around a building will permit it is proposed to beautify them with shrubbery and flowers and ornamental walks, and in the case of some of the larger sites spaces will be set aside for gardens for the pupils, where gardening and botany may be taught at the same time that the grounds are beautified.

Mr. Loeb and Carrie Nation.

Several months ago Carrie Nation, the hatchet wielder from Kansas, came to Washington and created a scene at the White House, raving in the office of Secretary Loeb like a mad woman. She said she had been told that the president smoked cigarettes on the steps of the capitol at Topeka, Kan., and that he drank whisky while on his way through that state in his private train. She wanted to know whether this was true, but before she could ask the question or get an answer she had become excited, made many threats and had been led out of Secretary Loeb's office to the fresh air.

Punished the President's Picture.

Secretary Loeb did not have an opportunity to get even with Carrie Nation until a few days ago, when he received a letter from Miss Lucy Pargast of Chicago, saying that Carrie Nation had walked into the quarters of the Antislavery league there and punched a hole in the picture of President Roosevelt with her umbrella. When Miss Gaston remonstrated with her she declared that the president chewed and smoked tobacco and was "no good anyway." Miss Gaston disputed this point, and when Carrie Nation said she would pay the league $50 if it could be shown that the president did not use tobacco Miss Gaston wrote Mr. Loeb and asked him to help her make $50. He promptly wrote her a note saying that the president never used tobacco in any form in his life. Mr. Loeb is waiting to see whether Carrie Nation pays the $50.

Special Work For Mr. Robb.

By direction of the president, Assistant Attorney General Robb will have as his special work for perhaps a year to come the completion of his review of the investigation of the several divisions of the postoffice department, upon which he has been engaged for some time.

Included in this are the final work on the New York office, the Chicago office, the charges against Postmaster Merritt of Washington and those against Edwin C. Madden, third assistant postmaster general. Details of these charges are not procurable, but they generally allege carelessness in administration of the public work, and, in some instances, are specific accusations against officials connected with the offices to which reference has been made.

Lost Arctic Expedition.

Secretary Hitchcock has brought to the attention of the government of Alaska the fact that a reward of 5,000 rubles has been offered for information leading to the finding of the Baron Toll's arctic expedition. It is considered probable that the expedition may have stranded in Alaskan waters, and the governor of the territory is requested to give wide publicity to the reward.

Changes in the House Restaurant.

The members of the house decided during the last session that there should be a change in the manner and method of conducting the house restaurant, and during the summer a number of changes will be made. A new feature, which is expected to prove eminently satisfactory, will be the construction of a number of private dining rooms. It is realized that parties of members are oftentimes anxious to discuss private matters while at luncheon. This privilege they have been denied so far by the public character of the restaurant.

Wanted a Beneficial Leg.

Jonas Grist called at the White House a few days ago to make a request of the president and was placed under arrest as an alleged crank. His home is in Perryville, Md. He said his brother had trouble with one of his legs, and he (Jonas) wanted the president to give him a permit to take up a collection.

"I want to get him a beneficial leg," he said, "and I thought the president would give me permission to take up the collection."

"Don't you mean an artificial leg?" Jonas was asked.

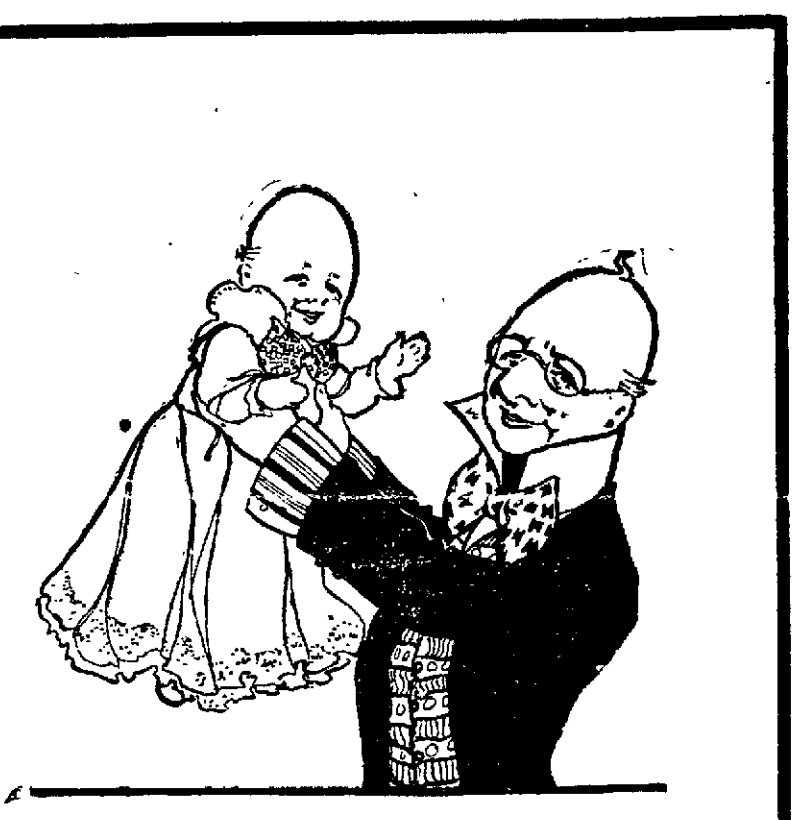

"I certainly don't," was his response. "I mean a beneficial leg."

The Agricultural Year Book.

The year book of the department of agriculture will be issued early in June. It will comprise an edition of 500,000 copies, of which 470,000 are reserved for the use of senators, representatives and delegates in congress, and the remainder is reserved for those connected with the work of the department.

The Washington Monument.

Colonel Symonds, the officer in charge of the Washington monument, has reported that the shaft was not damaged by the lightning bolt which struck it recently. The bolt entered the top of the shaft, burned out the telephone there, passed down the iron framework in the elevator shaft to the lower floor, through the shaft alley to the motor room, where it burned out a relay coil on the switchboard, and then passed along the electric cable to the engine room, in the boiler house, where it entered the ground. The boiler house is several hundred feet distant from the monument. CARL SCHOFIELD.

Children have a hard time in the summer—mainly because they eat the wrong things and too much of them.

"FORCE" with milk or cream is the safe food. And the little ones like it as well as we do.

Sunny Jim

Bright, shining, merry eyes mean more than a happy disposition—they indicate a sunny digestion. "FORCE" takes sunshine right to the spot! Not only are the elements of "FORCE" scientifically combined and properly balanced for a perfect food, but the mechanical processes of digestion are partly done in advance, so that the digestive organs are spared just that much effort.

BACCALAUREATE

SERMON DELIVERED SUNDAY BY REV. T. W. LOCKE

At the New Second Methodist Church in East Newark—Entire Class of 1904 Present.

Rev. T. W. Locke delivered the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of the Newark High school in the new East Main Street Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday evening. The commodious church was well filled with friends of the graduates and others interested in the event. Every member of the class was present.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns, palms and cut flowers. The class colors, red and gray, were conspicuous among the decorations.

The music was of the pleasing and appropriate nature. The church choir sang the anthem, "Searching For God," and Miss Bertha W. Penney rendered a solo, "Abide With Me."

Rev. Mr. Locke took for his text the eighth verse of the fourth chapter of Philippians. The text follows: "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue and if there be any praise think on these things." Following out the text the minister took as this subject: "Measure of Life's Influence."

The following is a synopsis of the sermon: Thought is the measure of life. Life is not the words nor actions but the thought. Thought alone is eternal. In the exhortation of the apostle to a life of conformity to all that is good, six distinct epithets appear. These epithets contain the elements of morality. "If you are not a thinking man, to what purpose are you a man at all? Every man has his atmosphere of influence. This is in keeping with the thought as expressed by another. We are all force-bearers and force-producers. This thought has its scriptural illustration, "Ye are the light of the world," and "Let your light so shine." It is said that in Paris in 1848 a wild mob rushed down a street lined with soldiers, armed with guns. The mob captured the guns and killed the soldiers only to be quelled by a gray-haired man who gained the attention of the leader of the mob. Appealing to the mob the leader cried out: "Citizens, sixty years of pure life are about to address you," and what soldiers and cannon were unable to do the presence of a pure life accomplished.

A further illustration of the fact that our influence will go out to others is the friendship of James A. Garfield to Mark Hopkins. The former at one time said, "It is as good as a university to sit on one end of a log with Mark Hopkins on the other end." The same was true with Livingston and Henry M. Stanley. Bunyan makes the noise of Appolony to emit James Everett's description of Daniel Webster's greatest speech was to the effect that his eyes literally emitted sparks of fire.

These are examples as proof that we are force-producers. The greatest example of the personal atmosphere of influence is that of the Lord, Jesus Christ.

IDLEWILDE PARK OPEN

Nearly Five Thousand People Visited the Resort Sunday—Band Concert Followed Ball Game and Bill at the Casino—Manager W. D. Harris and His Staff.

Idlewilde Park opened its gates to the public Sunday, June 12, for the season of 1904, and every indication points to the fact that Manager W. D. Harris will have another very successful summer at this beautiful resort.

It seemed that every one in Newark, who believes in enjoying heartful and harmless recreation on the Sabbath, was waiting for Idlewilde's opening, and soon after noon Sunday, extra cars were put on the park line by Superintendent F. L. Mowery which rapidly filled and were quickly run to the park. This street car service was most excellent and met with the hearty appreciation of the public.

Manager Harris said Monday that there were about 5,000 people on the grounds during Sunday, there being 4,268 paid admissions, 3,810 at the street car gate. This attendance is just ten more than opening day '903. About the same number as last season attended matinee and evening performances at the Casino.

The afternoon crowd for the most part attended the Mt. Vernon-Idlewilde ball game, before which time it enjoyed a band concert in the open air given by the new organization under the leadership of Mr. Charles Smith, who acted in the same capacity at the Park two years ago, and for a time the past season was leader of the Auditorium orchestra. Mr. Smith has gotten together the best band and orchestra that has ever played at Idlewilde park, not even excepting Fred Nedermeyer's famous organization last season.

The instrumentation is as follows: each man being an acknowledged artist on his instrument: Leader, Mr. Charles Smith, second violin and alto, Charles Dowling; viola and baritone, Richard Schellick; cello and horn, E. A. Lage; bass and tuba, W. C. Osborne; flute and piccolo, Otto Smith; clarinet, Jacob Stock; cornet, Will Reynolds; trombone, Frank Reynolds; drums, Mr. Foltz. Mr. Schellick has for years been orchestra leader in the Trenton, N. J., opera house, while Mr. Osborne came to Idlewilde direct from St. Louis, where he has been playing six weeks in concert with the Sousa band. Otto Smith played here with Nedermeyer last season, and the others are also well known musicians. The band and orchestra have a great deal of new music which will be worked up as soon as possible, including the best standard and popular overtures and other compositions.

The stage this season will be under the personal supervision of Manager Harris, who will have as an executive force the following stage employees: Louis Jones, electrician; Dick Thompson, carpenter; Will Ransom, properties; Jim Hall, flyman; John Colony, grip.

Before the curtain will be Matt Smith, head usher, Bernard Smith ticket seller.

Mr. George Morris will be Mr. Harris' assistant at the park, most of his attention being given at the Casino.

NINE TO TWO

IN FAVOR OF NEWARK TEAM IS THE SCORE.

Big Crowd Saw Game at the Opening of Idlewilde Park—Mt. Vernon Furnished the Losing Team.

Kid Purcell's father came over Sunday from Columbus to see his son play third for Idlewilde, and he brought with him a favorite bat of the Kid's which had been left home. This stick seemed to have more to do with the home team's easy victory Sunday over Mt. Vernon than any other one thing unless it was the masterly pitching of Nel Mason. Purcell got three safe hits with his new bat, nearly took Johnson's leg off with a scorching grounder, and hit a long fly.

Other members of the team used the Kid's bat and they made Wilnot look like a twirler in the 'Possum Hollow league rather than an ex-member of Clymers' Columbus corps which he was earlier in the season. Wagner, Purcell and Snyder were the other ex-Senators in the game.

Mt. Vernon scored one in the very first inning, after Johnson had been thrown out by Justice, Humphreys made a two-base hit and scored on Keller's single. In the fifth Snitzer hit one to right center which rolled under the fence and he trotted around the bases on the fluke home run. These runs were the only ones scored by the visitors as Mason was at all times completely master of the situation. The home team's runs were made by good clean hitting, errors contributing to only two of the nine. Scott, Wagner, Purcell, Flick, Taylor, Snodgrass and Mason all hit when men were on bases and their hits counted.

Justices' two errors did not affect the score in the least, and the brilliant little shortstop was several times applauded for his great fielding. Snodgrass supported Mason in grand style, as did the entire team. The score follows:

FLAG DAY TUESDAY

June Fourteenth is Birthday of Our National Flag, the Stars and Stripes--Occasion Should be Observed by Display of the Colors.

Tuesday, June 14, is the one hundred and twenty-seventh anniversary of the Stars and Stripes, and should be commemorated by every man, woman and child in the land, for it has drawn more people to itself from other countries than any other flag that ever waved, and it stands for the greatest freedom, the highest general average of intelligence and the most ample opportunities for every individual to make the most of himself, to be found in the world, now or at any other period.

The birth and history of Old Glory is too familiar to bear repetition but a few statistics in connection with the quaint and historic little dwelling, 259 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., wherein it was made by Betsy Ross in 1776, and subsequently accepted by a committee composed of Gen. George Washington, Hon. George Ross and Robert Morris, and adopted by resolution of Congress June 14, 1777; and a few remarks concerning the observance of its birth will probably not be out of place.

The birth of Old Glory was fittingly observed in the city last year by a grand display of our national colors and it should not be an exception this year. It has only been about four or five years since the movement was taken up by patriotic societies, but its popularity is growing rapidly. There has been no legislation setting it aside as a national holiday as yet, but if the observance of it increases during the next five years as it has begun, it will amount to about the same.

Let the Mayor, who is ever progressive, call official attention to the day and its significance by issuing a proclamation calling upon the citizens in general to observe the day by displaying the Stars and Stripes from their homes and places of business as generally as possible. This action has been taken by the Mayors of other cities in the past few years, and surely our beautiful city should not fail to keep alive "the spirit of '76."

Have the children in the public schools celebrate the event by holding patriotic exercises, as it is done in the larger cities.

By way of comment, will relate a very pretty part of one of the ceremonies of Flag Day in the New York public schools last year, it was the reciting by all the pupils in concert of the following pledge: "We the children of many lands, who find rest under thy folds, pledge our lives, our hearts and our sacred honor to love and protect thee, our country, and the liberty of the American people forever."

Last Flag Day hundreds of flags were carried by the pupils of the schools of San Juan, P. R., and there were patriotic exercises of all kinds. All the other cities of the island reported similar enthusiasm in honor of the day.

All loyal American hearts will welcome the glad tidings that active steps have been taken to purchase the birthplace of the Star Spangled Banner, and the object is now almost consummated.

On June 14, 1898, an organization known as the American Flag House and Betsy Ross Memorial Association was formed, which has its headquarters in the Flag House, the association at that time paid over to the owners of the building the sum of $500 as option money. It was then decided to raise the remainder of the total purchase money, $25,000, by subscriptions from the public, and to place the house under the care of the municipality when paid for. Appreciating the importance of preserving this relic of the revolution, a number of patriotic gentlemen of this and other states have taken the matter in hand, thereby making the movement national in its scope.

Numerous attempts have been made in the past to remove this historic building to other cities. The present plans provide that it shall remain in Philadelphia, there to be held in trust for the nation.

With the view of making the movement a popular one, arrangements have been made by the association to have all Americans, regardless of their religious or political affiliations, to participate and become the preservers of the birthplace of the Stars and Stripes.

Souvenir certificate of membership in the association are being issued at a nominal price, and the names of all subscribers are placed on the roll of honor. As the place is of national interest, every state, city and township in the union is given an equal opportunity to share in the work of raising the amount required.

Any person may become a member of the American Flag House and Betsy Ross Memorial Association upon the payment of 19 cents and 4 cents extra for postage for which they will receive a beautiful certificate of membership which makes them a part owner of the historic place. The sum required has nearly been raised, each state taking an active part in the work and it is very probable that before another year rolls around the house will be government property.

The historic association of the dwelling makes its safety a subject of anxiety in every quarter of the United States.

There is no possession which a nation so prizes and guards as its flag, and the place of its birth is also an historic relic of importance.

The third annual report of the association, issued to the people through the press, December 14, 1901, shows that in a period of three years the officers of the association succeeding in raising the sum of $19,668.82 toward the fund for the purchase of the birthplace of Old Glory. This showing is indeed remarkable when it is borne in mind that no one is permitted to subscribe more than ten cents for a certificate of membership.

The fourth annual report issued to the public December 13, 1902, showed an increase of $1,374.29, making a total of $21,043.11.

The fifth annual report submitted by the officers of the association, December 14, 1903, shows the amount collected to be $22,091.63, leaving a balance of $2,908.57 yet to be raised to liquidate the mortgage still remaining.

The officers of the association also report that 137 fires have occurred within a radius of two squares from the old Flag House.

They hold that this fact alone should stimulate all patriotic citizens throughout the entire country to renewed action in helping to save this sacred landmark as speedily as possible in order that the house may be turned over to the Federal government, when steps will be taken to further protect the house from this menacing element, thus saving to the nation the birthplace of Old Glory.

Taylor Hall was well filled at the first Vesper Service yesterday afternoon. Dr. Daniel Shephardson gave an exceedingly interesting introductory address on the Letters of Paul, concluding with a study of Paul's Prayer as found in the first chapter of Colossians.

It is indeed a rare opportunity to sit at the feet of one so thoroughly equipped to teach as is Dr. Shephardson.

These services are to continue two more Sundays—June 19 and 26.

GENTRY SHOW
Will Be In Newark on Wednesday, June 22—Mounted Band One of the Features of Parade.

Gentry Bros.' Juvenile Hussar band, one of the season's innovations in the musical line, is one of the new features added to this year's famous trained animal shows by the Messrs. Gentry. Mounted on the prettiest little ponies that money can buy and that time and patience can train, and garbed in uniforms which are the perfection of the costumers' art, these juvenile musicians discourse the sweetest and most popular airs of the day while the street parade is traversing the principal thoroughfares. The mounted band has never before been seen with any show and will be seen with no other traveling attraction outside of the Gentry show which comes to Newark, Wednesday, June 22, afternoon at 2:30, evening at 8. Everything with the Gentry show this year is brand new, being evolved from the original ideas and equipped at enormous expense. Do not fail to be down town not later than 10 o'clock in case you care to see the most unique street parade ever seen. Admission to show 25 cents.

ory of the brothers who have answered
to the last roll call in the great beyond.
The day was cool and the weather
clear, and large numbers of Odd Fellows and their friends turned out. A large number of the members of St.

ark lodge. They were all welcomed and escorted to the hall, from which place the Odd Fellows and Daughters

them.

The service was opened by the singing of a beautiful number by Miss Lista Geil, after which the chaplain of the lodge, Mr. Henry Welsh, offered prayer.

lowed by an eloquent sermon by the Rev. Frank Gillilan, on "The Love of Man for Man." He told of the foundation and principles of Odd Fellowship,
the three links of which signify "Friendship, Love and Truth." It was an admirable sermon and was listened to by the large audience with the closest attention.

Fellows formed their line of parade
and started for Maple Grove cemetery under the command of E. I. Jones, who acted as chief marshal.

BIRTHDAY

Anniversary of Mrs. Swan, Who Was Born in Newark Happily Celebrated at East Liverpool.

The Review of East Liverpool, O., contains the following account of the celebration of the seventy-first anniversary of the birth of Mrs. J. N. Swan, who was born and brought up in Newark:

"Surrounded by her children and grandchildren at her home on Ohio avenue, Mrs. J. N. Swan celebrated the seventy-first anniversary of her birth on Wednesday. Although past the allotted three score year and ten Mrs.
Swan is hale and hearty and in full possession of all her faculties. The observance of the anniversary is a most happy occasion, as it brought together the entire family, except one son who is a medical missionary in China.

"Several of the children and their wives and children have been here for a number of days and all arrived in time for the big family dinner that was served at noon. Those present were:
W. L. Swan, of Salem; Rev. B. M.
Swan, of Mt. Sterling; James L. Swan, of Detroit; Rev. C. W. Swan, of Shreve; Mrs. J. P. Leyenberger, of Wheeling, and Mrs. Major Newman, of East Liverpool.

"Mrs. Swan was born at Newark, O., and after receiving a public school education went to Oxford college, graduating in 1852. She is probably the oldest living graduate of the school.
Swan was married to Rev. James N.
Swan 52 years ago, and has been a resident of Columbiana county since 1860."

A collection of 33,000 volumes on economics and finance, valued at $100,

very imposing one.

In the afternoon the members of Newark and Roland lodges met at the Castle Hall of Newark Lodge with the members of Licking Company, U. R.
K. P., after which the line of march was formed and the procession pro-

following order:

Roland Lodge, No. 305.

Upon arriving at Cedar Hill cemetry, the Knights formed in two divisions, there being 72 graves to decorate and there were 72 flower bearers. Wreaths of beautiful flowers were then placed on the graves of the deceased brothers who had finished their work on earth, after which all assembled at the mound where Judge
C. W. Seward delivered an eloquent address on Pythianism. A quartet
then rendered a beautiful number,
which was followed by Rev. O. C.
Wright delivering the address of the day. It was greatly appreciated by the members of the order, and was the fifth memorial address delivered by the Rev. Mr. Wright for the Newark Knights of Pythias. The band then played the closing ode, after which the assemblage was dismissed.

(St. Marys, Ohio, Daily News.)

Superintendent J. D. Simkins, of the St. Marys public schools, has been elected superintendent of the schools
at Newark, Ohio, and will offer his resignation to the local board at a meeting to be held for that purpose within a few days. Mr. Simkins was elected as superintendent of our schools for a term of three years one year ago, but our board of education will not stand in the way of his going to Newark, where he will receive a salary of $2000 a year, an increase of $200 over his salary at this place.

Mr. Simkins has been in St. Marys fifteen years and during all that time
he has worked earnestly and faithfully for the success of the schools. He has always commanded the respect of not only his pupils but the patrons of the schools as well and he is beyond question not only an educator of recognized ability but as an executive he has been equally successful. He has felt, and justly so, for several years past that his services ought to demand a larger salary than he has received in St.
Marys and while the board of education and the people generally have acquired in this view, because of our heavy school house debt the board has found it impossible to pay the salary
that all have thought he earned. Mr.
Simkins also feels, in a measure, that fifteen years is long enough for one man to remain in a position of this nature and that the time for a change is when he is yet in the prime of his school life and when the opportunities for advancement are greatest. Viewing his resignation in this light we believe the people of St. Marys will concede him the right to make the change and will only wish for him the full measure of success in his new field
of work.

He will be missed in St. Marys not only as the superintendent of our schools but as a citizen as well, always interested in the success and advancement of our town, he has never failed to lend his influence and active support to every public enterprise. In social and religious circles he and his excellent family have always been prominent and surely they will leave St. Marys justly feeling that they have the respect and confidence of all.

COLLECTION

Of Indian and Mound Builders' Relics Owned By Geo. F. Moore at Judge Brister's Office.

Mr. George F. Moore, a well-known pioneer of Madison township, has a very interesting collection of Indian and Mound Builders' relics, which he has had on exhibition at the ladies'
loan at the First Presbyterian church.
The articles are now temporarily in the office of Judge E. M. P. Brister, where they are offered for sale. The exhibit comprises stone hammers, axes, and implements of all kinds, flint arrow heads of every description, and various relics of the mound builders.
Among the latter are the remains of a human skeleton, with some charred embers and arrow heads. The remains were found in the center of a mound in Madison township on the farm of William Sherman. The mound is about 500 in circumference and 20 feet high, and the skeleton was found at the bottom of a shaft which was sunk from the top of the mound. Most of the bones crumbled as soon as they were exposed to the atmosphere, but portions of the skull and some of the arm or leg bones are in a good state of preservation, together with the charred embers found with the skeleton.

HEARING

OF BLOOMER CHERRY CASE IS RESUMED.

Dr. Town of Columbus, Who Attended
Mr. Bloomer In Last Illness, Was First Witness Monday.

The examination of Miss Daisy
Cherry, who with her father, Charles Cherry, is being questioned regarding money and other assets of estate of the late Bryant J. Bloomer, deceased, was continued before Probate Judge W. A. Irvine Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, having been continued from Saturday afternoon. A number of spectators were present who listened with interest to the proceedings.

DR. WILLIAM L. TOWN
of Columbus, who attended Bloomer
in his last illness, was the first witness called by Attorney B. G. Smythe, attorney for Mrs. Bloomer. He testified as follows:

Knew Bloomer about four or five days before he died, met him first at the Star Hotel Thursday, May 13,
about 19 o'clock in the evening, Ward
S. Given was there at the time; I found Bloomer ill; saw him next on Friday morning about 9 o'clock. Mr.
Given, two gentlemen whose names I do not recall, and Mr. Cherry were present at this time; my visit was a professional one, and I remained only 5 or 20 minutes; at the time I went away, Mr. Cherry and the two gentlemen were still in the room. I called on the patient early Friday afternoon;
he was a very sick man; I do not know who was present at that time;
I stayed 15 or 20 minutes that time;
I called again Friday night; the patient remarked that he himself realized that he was 'up against the real thing.' Ward S. Given was present on this occasion. Next saw Bloomer on Saturday morning; I met Mr.
Cherry Friday morning at the Star
Hotel, but have nothing but hearsay evidence as to Miss Cherry's whereabouts; the patient was removed from the hospital to the Protestant Hospital on Saturday morning. Mr. A. L. Rawlings of Newark was present; did not see Mr. Cherry or Miss Cherry in my office Sunday evening; had seen Bloomer earlier on Sunday; I took Miss Cherry with me to the hospital Sunday night, and met Mr. Cherry or Miss Bond in the reception room;
Miss Cherry said she had just talked with my consultant, Dr. Rankin, and I said I was en route to the hospital and would take her there with me; I do not remember whether Mr. Cherry or Miss Cherry were in the sick room Sunday night or not. Next saw Bloomer at 3 o'clock Monday morning, being called there by the chief nurse, because of Bloomer's condition; I told Miss Cherry of Bloomer's condition over the long distance phone Monday morning; she was in Newark; she had requested me to call her up and tell her of Bloomer's condition should any change occur. I next saw Miss Cherry at the Protestant Hospital early Monday morning;
Bloomer was in a very alarming condition; I think I was in the sick room
Monday when Miss Cherry was there;
later in the forenoon; the chief nurse,
also a special nurse, Dr. T. W. Rankin, Mr. Cherry and Miss Bond were there at that time; Bloomer's physical condition was grave, his mentality was intact except what high temperature
and profound toxemia would produce;
there was a diamond ring on his finger; it was removed by Dr. T. W.
Rankin; he asked me to witness his action, he said he would remove the ring and keep it in his possession;
Mr. Bloomer nodded his consent to removing the ring.

Dr. Town was asked why he did not notify Mrs. Bloomer of the patient's condition, and whether Miss Cherry had anything to do with his failure to so notify the patient's wife. Objections were interposed by Mr. Kibler, as Miss Cherry's attorney, and were sustained.

Mr. Smythe then he offered to prove that Dr. Town asked Miss Cherry about Bloomer's family and Miss Cherry replied that Mrs. Bloomer was insane and it would not do for her to know her husband's condition; that she did not know where Mrs. Bloomer lived out it was somewhere in Newark. Mr. Smythe also gave notice of exceptions to the court's ruling.

Continuing Dr. Town said:
"On Saturday morning when Bloomer was moved to the hospital, I observed a roll of bills in his vest pocket.
He placed $102 with the hospital,
I do not know whether this was the amount of the roll I saw in his vest pocket; the hospital authorities delivered to Mr. Charles Bloomer on Tuesday morning a worn bill book containing $102; I was at the hospital

when Bloomer died; Mrs. Bloomer, the special nurse and myself were
with him when he died; Miss Cherry and Mr. Cherry and Miss Bond were not in the hospital to my knowledge when he died; saw them last in the reception room of the hospital about 3:30 Monday afternoon; a satchel was in Bloomer's room at the hospital; it was an ordinary leather valise; I was asked by Miss Cherry to give it to her; it contained blank postoffice reports, parts of a toilet set, a pant's button, bottle of whiskey and a bulb syringe. The last I know of the satchel it was in possession of the hospital.

Monday Afternoon.

Dr. W. L. Town was called and continued his testimony as follows:
"When I left the room after Bloom-er's death, Mrs. Bloomer, two nurses and a negro porter were there; I was called to see Mr. Bloomer during the absence of Dr. Rankin in Cleveland;
when Dr. Rankin returned I asked him to see the case in consultation with me; Miss Cherry was not present when the ring was taken from Mr. Bloomer's finger by Dr. Rankin;
the ring was in Dr. Rankin's pocket
day before yesterday."

Cross examined by Mr. Kibler:
"I know of no other money besides the $102 that Mr. Bloomer had, of my own personal knowledge; besides the contents mentioned this morning,
there were several memorandum
books in the valise; Miss Cherry did not ask me to take charge of the valise, giving as a reason that the memorandum books might be of value; this valise and other effects of the patient were in charge of the hospital."

Re-direct by Mr. Smythe:
"There were one or two memorandum books, about the size of an ordinary pocket bank book; I investigated
one of them to see if it was a bank book or not."

At this point the court interrupted the inquiry and as Mrs. Bloomer ac-knowledgeed she received the valise and several memorandum books, the court held a description of them by the witness was unnecessary.

"Beside the $102 the hospital authorities reported to me that they had found other money, three rings, and a stick pin; this other money amounted to about $18 or $19."

By the Court.

"Mr. Bloomer did not make any remarks concerning the removal of the diamond ring, in my presence or to me. Dr. Rankin said to him, Bryant, do you want me to take this?"
Bloomer nodded his head in assent
That was the entire conversation in my presence about the ring. It has been in Dr. Rankin's possession since."

WARD L. GIVEN

of Columbus, was called by Mr.
Smythe.

"I live in Columbus; met Bryant J.
Bloomer a year ago last March; I worked with him for 62 days and saw him frequently after that time; his lay-off was at the Star Hotel in Columbus; I was his nurse for 36 hours
from Thursday night till Saturday morning; Mr. Bloomer handed me a $20 bill out of which I took $4, which I had spent for medicines. I noticed that he had a large roll of bills; I don't know how much; I saw the $20
bill he gave to me and another $20
bill under this one; I saw his money on several other occasions during his illness; at one time he gave me a $5
bill; I think to pay his hotel bill; I saw other money on this occasion, in bills; he got the roll from his vest pocket, his vest hanging at the head of the bed.

The court refused to allow witness to give an opinion as to how much was in the roll and Mr. Smythe said he offered to prove that to witness it looked as if there were $1,500 in the roll.

"I saw Miss Cherry and Mr. Charles Cherry at the hotel while I was caring for Mr. Bloomer; saw Mr. Cherry Friday morning in Mr. Bloomer's room; this was about 10 o'clock.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which—
despite the most beneficent environ-

A ton of manure will not help a plant
that has a canker eating out its heart.
You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Bald-
